

Searching With Fedora

To support searching, Fedora will simply allow the metadata to be indexed. An indexing system will call the `getMetadata` behaviors of all applicable objects, and index the results.

See the main repository search page for more details on the searching system.