

Collection Submission

The Digital Library Federation (DLF) is testing a model for transitioning products and services from development to sustainability with DLF Aquifer. The attached prospectus describes Aquifer products and services and outlines a process for organizations to work with DLF to assume responsibility for elements of DLF Aquifer that fit with their strategic goals. Information about levels of resources required to continue the services and possibilities for future development are also included in the prospectus.

DLF will host a question and answer session for interested parties on Thursday, November 13th at DLF Forum. For more information, contact:
